CSRT 2027 Annual Conference Call for Abstracts: In-Stream Presentations

Thank you for your interest in speaking at the CSRT 2027 Annual Conference. The online application system for in-stream presentation is now open for submission of abstracts.

Application for in-stream presentations require an individual abstract outlining one proposed oral presentation to be included in the main conference program. The session is expected to provide valuable evidence-informed practice updates for conference attendees, with time included in the session for questions.

Abstract Review

The Scientific Program Committee will review all abstracts once the submission period has closed. Abstracts will be evaluated based on factors such as clarity, originality, relevance to practice, adaptability to other institutions, and the extent to which they are evidence-informed.

We are accepting abstracts relevant to all facets of respiratory therapy practice.

Preference will be given to applications that align with established informed-practice priorities of the CSRT.

Submission

The link to submit abstracts is at the bottom of this page. Please pay careful attention to the instructions below.

- You may submit multiple proposals for the conference, however you must submit each separately.
- Each question in the application with an asterisk requires a response.
- Only one speaker will be permitted to present in a session, unless the CSRT deems that an additional speaker is vital to the session.
- The CSRT aims to inform all applicants of the review decision in December 2027. If your submission is accepted, we will confirm your session format, and duration at that time.
- All submissions will be automatically confirmed with a notification on the submission screen. A further confirmation email and will be received within 1-2 business days.
- Submissions lacking sufficient detail will be returned and will not be advanced to the Scientific Program Committee.
